

Bobby Nweke is the founder of Ready Consulting LLC, a leadership and communication development firm. Bobby works at the intersection of adult learning, narrative strategy, and delivery craft — partnering with executives, founders, and public-facing leaders to build clarity, credibility, and courageous influence across talks, media, and high-stakes moments. He helps individuals and groups turn complex ideas into messages that move people to action. His work spans speechwriting, speaker development, executive presence coaching, facilitation design, and strategic storytelling across corporate, educational, and mission-driven organizations. Bobby specializes in what he calls "performance and message architecture" — the disciplined work of ensuring that message, delivery, and presence operate in full alignment — so communication doesn't just inform, but moves.